

Your entertainment is digital. Your entertainment system should be, too.

New digital content protection laws will soon make it impossible to watch the same content in more than one room at the same time.

Remember when you first got your entertainment system? Remember how easy it was to enjoy movies, TV and music in multiple rooms at the same time? That's not quite so easy now. Why? In a word, "digital". Or, more specifically, hanging onto an outdated analog system in a digital world.

Blu-ray Disc[®], cable, satellite, Apple TV[®], Pandora[®], Internet radio, Netflix[®], Hulu[®] Plus and YouTube[®] are all digital. If your entertainment system isn't Crestron DigitalMedia[™], you're not getting:

- ✓ True HD video and sound
- ✓ Access to all available content, such as streaming media
- ✓ The ability to browse, search and play all content from any room
- ✓ The ability to watch or listen to the same content in multiple rooms at the same time
- ✓ 3D video
- ✓ Channel surfing, without the annoying delay between channels

Why wait?

You may be living with minor annoyances now. But, soon, stricter digital content protection laws will make your current home entertainment system unbearable.

Upgrade to Crestron DigitalMedia to get the best entertainment experience possible, along with the convenience, reliability, and simplicity that you once enjoyed with your old system.
